

MOVIE IDOL AT SHIPYARD TUESDAY

MARY PICKFORD GIVEN PRINCESS' RECEPTION; BIG MILITARY ESCORT AND SCHAW-BATCHER BAND.

Piloted by William D. Rudd, Mary Pickford spent thirty minutes at the Schaw-Batcher shipyard at noon Tuesday, and $15,000 in subscriptions to the Fourth Liberty Loan was added to the shipyard's quota as a result, bringing the total pledges of the plant to in excess of $200,000.

The "goddess of the movies" was given a queen's reception. Soldiers guarding the plant composed a military guard of honor, and headed by the Schaw-Batcher band led Miss Pickford to the stage, which was draped in the national colors and had been specially erected for the occasion.

Girls in Uniform.

Surrounding the stage were bond booths, wherein the girls from the office of the company, uniformed in white with Sam Browne belts of red, white and blue, sold thousands of dollars' worth of bonds to the clamoring workmen.

Rousing cheers greeted the movie idol when she was introduced to the 5000 workmen by Manager A. L. Becker. The cheering was led by the Schaw-Batcher baseball team, in uniform.

In well-chosen words Miss Pickford complimented the workers on what they had already done toward supporting the Fourth Liberty Loan and the generosity with which they had subscribed to the previous loans. Upon the announcement, made by Superintendent Kibele, that an autographed photograph of "Mary of the Movies" would be given to the first hundred subscribers, given from Mary's own hands, there was a general rush by the stalwart and oft-time begrimed workers to be among the hundred elect.

Following Miss Pickford's appeal, John J. McNab addressed the shipworkers.

Shipfitter E. H. Schutt had the honor of posing with Miss Pickford for a photograph.

SCHAW-BATCHER TO LAUNCH FOURTH SHIP

Announcement of another launching has been made by the Schaw-Batcher Co. Ship Works. The steamship West Avenal will leave the ways on Sunday evening at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. J. A. Talbot, wife of the vice-president of the Schaw-Batcher shipyard, will be sponsor for the vessel.

MANUEL PAVA WOUNDED INJURY NOT SERIOUS

Word has been received here that Manuel Pava has been wounded in one of the battles on the western front. No details of the injury have yet been received, other than that it is a slight wound. It is probable that he is already released from the base hospital. Pava is a nephew of Joseph Gasper.

ATTEMPT MADE TO SHOOT HENRY M'GRAW

CHRIS CONDOS RESISTS ARREST; FINED $100 AND ORDERED OUT OF TOWN BY RECORDER DOWD.

Chris Condos, held in $10,000 bail and charged with assault with intent to commit murder, which was later changed to a misdemeanor charge to insure a conviction, was fined $100 and sentenced to six months in jail by Recorder Dowd on Tuesday.

The jail sentence was suspended by the magistrate with the proviso that Condos leave town. Should he return the sentence must be served.

Condos, it is alleged, made an attempt on the life of Henry McGraw, when the officer captured him following a fight in the S. P. Saloon, where Condos had brandished a Colt automatic revolver.

McGraw gave chase to the would-be murderer who, when overtaken, turned the gun on the officer. Fortunately the Greek had failed to release the safety catch on the gun and it failed to work.

His brother paid the fine.

ROOKIE MASQUERADER ARRESTED BY CONRAD

BRUCE TOMBLINSON CAUGHT IN CIVILIAN'S CLOTHES ATTEMPTING TO BUY "BOOZE."

Bruce Tomblinson, on a furlough from Camp Fremont to attend his father's funeral, was arrested by Chief of Police Conrad when the officer found him in a local saloon in civilian's uniform, attempting to buy a drink.

Chief Conrad communicated with the military authorities at Camp Fremont, who agreed to pick Tomblinson up at the San Mateo jail, where he was taken by the officer.

Tomblinson was drafted from Napa, where he had been employed. He is a member of Company M, Eighth Regiment, United States Infantry.

EPIDEMIC OF INFLUENZA HERE

HEALTH OFFICER DR. M'GOVERN ORDERS SCHOOLS, CHURCHES AND MOVING PICTURE HOUSE CLOSED; RED CROSS WORK SUSPENDED.

Twenty-two cases of Spanish influenza have already been reported by physicians to Health Officer Dr. J. C. McGovern, who has ordered the Royal Theatre closed, all church services suspended, Red Cross work postponed and the schools closed. Public gatherings of all kinds are prohibited until the epidemic is allayed.

The dread disease made its appearance in San Mateo county early this week, the first cases being reported at Redwood City, following the quarantine of Camp Fremont, where 150 cases developed from recruits recently arrived from Camp Lewis.

The action of Local Health Officer Dr. McGovern was taken as a precautionary measure to prevent a sudden and further spread of the disease.

The cases reported are slight with the exception of Mrs. Andrew Hynding, who is suffering with a severe attack of the malady. Mr. and Mrs. Lalau and Floyd Menzie are also reported to have contracted the disease in a virulent form.

Those contracting the disease in South San Francisco will be treated as isolation cases. No quarantine will be put on the homes or the city unless the disease shows indication of a rapid spread.

REALTY MEN WILL MAKE CHANGES IN LOCATION

The South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company and E. C. Peck will occupy their new quarters in the recently vacated bank building on Tuesday, October 15.

B. H. Truax will retain the office vacated by E. C. Peck, and will continue to act as Peck's agent, in conjunction with conducting an insurance business.

STEEL MILL ASKS THAT SLACKERS BE PUBLISHED

The Enterprise is in receipt of the following communication from F. J. Brooke, office manager of the Pacific Coast Steel Company plant:

October 7, 1918.

Mr. D. E. Curley, Editor Enterprise South San Francisco, Calif.—Dear Sir: We are preparing a list of bond slackers, which we wish to have you publish when same is completed. However, it would be well to publish a notice in your next issue, as follows:

PACIFIC COAST STEEL COMPANY IS ABOUT TO PUBLISH THE NAMES OF BOND SLACKERS.

This, of course, as I stated before, is to be followed up by the list in case those employees who are lax in their subscriptions do not "come through" with a liberal amount.

Yours very truly,

Pacific Coast Steel Company.

F. J. BROOKE,
Office Manager.

Total 2.34 on $100 valuation, as against last year's rate of 2.496, showing a decrease of .156, due to retiring of old school bonds.

The outside rate is 2.84 per $100 valuation.

JENNINGS TAKES OVER SAN BRUNO DRUG STORE

The business of the San Bruno Drug Company is now owned by C. E. Jennings, proprietor of Jennings' Pharmacy on Grand avenue.

Arrangements were recently completed and the new store is being conducted temporarily by Mrs. Jennings, who is a pharmacist of standing.

The former proprietor of the San Bruno Drug Company left his business at San Bruno rather mysteriously, and the San Francisco Board of Trade took over his affairs. Jennings consummated his deal with that organization.

SUPERVISOR M'BAIN IS GIVEN BIRTHDAY PARTY

Uncle Tom's Cabin was the scene of another merry gathering last Thursday night, when John MacBain of Menlo Park was tendered a genuine surprise party arranged by a number of the supervisor's most intimate friends. Mrs. MacBain pleads guilty to being "an accessory before the fact" in the conspiracy to surprise her husband on the occasion of his sixty-ninth birthday.

Those present at the happy affair, in addition to Supervisor and Mrs. John MacBain, were:

District Attorney and Mrs. Franklin Swart, Supervisor and Mrs. Joseph M. Francis, County Assessor and Mrs. D. P. Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Blanchard, County Purchasing Agent and Mrs. Ernest Werder, Miss Pearl McCormick, niece of Mrs. MacBain, and Mr. Andy Buerk.

RATE CASE UP; DECISION SOON

CONFERENCE HELD BY DISTRICT FREIGHT TRAFFIC COMMITTEE AND MEMBERS OF INTERESTED ORGANIZATIONS.

On Monday last South San Francisco's switching case came up for discussion before the district freight traffic committee of the United States Railroad Administration, which will succeed the California Railroad Commission and Interstate Commerce Commission in the handling of the proposal to extend San Francisco's switching limits to include South San Francisco.

That this body will hand down a decision was agreed upon Monday, following the conference called by District Railroad Director William Sproule, acting under instructions from the United States Railroad Administration at Washington.

The various organizations interested in the case, under the guidance of P. R. Thompson, have been urging upon Director-General McAdoo the importance of prompt action, and Monday's conference was the result of their petitions. Chairman W. G. Barnwell of the freight traffic committee promised an early final hearing, and there is a possibility that a decision will be handed down within thirty days.

Hard-Fought Case.

The conference was the culmination of eighteen months' persistent effort on the part of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trustees, Manufacturers' Association of South San Francisco, Industrial Executive Committee of Civic Associations, Board of Supervisors of San Francisco and other civic and commercial organizations which combined for an equalization of the San Francisco switching rates and limits which would place the peninsula on a parity with the east side of the bay.

The case had been given a full hearing before the State Railroad Commission when the railroads were taken over by the government, the commission then declaring that it had no jurisdiction in intra-state matters.

At the meeting, besides Sproule and Barnwell, were G. W. Luce, F. K. Faye, F. P. Gregson, L. P. Neff, representing the Chamber of Commerce; George Skaller, Civic Association; P. R. Roehl, attorney for South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce; Richard J. Welch, Board of Supervisors of San Francisco; E. H. Edwards and P. R. Thompson, Manufacturers' Association of South San Francisco, and F. A. Cunningham, Board of Trustees, South San Francisco.

"Carry On, Mates"

The following poem, written by Lieutenant Martin Fitzgerald, M. G. G., an English machine gun operator, while in the hospital from wounds received in the trenches, has been reprinted in many magazines and newspapers. If you know an American workingman who could possibly be disposed to strike at such a time as now, ask him to read it:

'Ere am I sweating my bloomin' soul out
All for a moldy bob a day. A bob
A day, aye, a bob a day and night as well,
No eight or ten hours a day for poor me,
With a 'arf 'oliday thrown in as well.
Not an hour in the bloomin' twenty-four
Can I call my soul my own. Sentry-go
And fatigue, fatigue and sentry-go, till
You prop yer eyelids with matches to keep
Them from shutting right down, or for a change
You sweat up and down a muddy, bloody
Trench with a few ton weight on your aching back.
Mud to the middle, pulling one foot out
And then the other, feeling like a dam' fly
Stuck in the bloomin' fly-paper. Strike, you say!
Not bloody likely! The rations and "ammo"
Must get up the dam' line to feed ourselves
And our friend Fritz, if I drop dead in my
Muddy, bloody tracks. Then for variety
You shin over the bloomin' top, yer 'eart
In yer mouth and 'ate in yer 'eart over
That devil's spit, No Man's Land, to pay our
Afternoon-tea call to old Fritz, or else
We're busy welcoming visitors that
Come without asking, with machine gun,
Rifle, bayonet, and bomb. What a life,
All for a blinking, moldy bob a day!

Mates of mine, who made the "iron rations"
For old Fritz, you are 'ome in old Blighty
With women and beer and baccy galore.
They say you strike; well, may Gawd strike them
What told you to! What, mate, would you stab
Yer old pal in the back, and join 'ands
With old Fritz against me, yer old pal,
Me, who gives my life and strength and blood
To keep you, the gals, and kiddies safe at home,
Strike me pink! you can't do it, not on yer life!
For Gawd's sake, play the game, don't fail us now
When we've gripped tight with the devil and strain
Every nerve for the strangle-'old, to crush him
Once and for all; don't stab me in the back
And help him free again. You can't, by the blood
Of those mates of ours who've paid the price.
Who have gone West. They'll curse you from 'eaven
And 'ell as I shall curse you from this bloody,
Battered line.

Carry on, pals of mine!

If there is a grievance—wait, 'old your 'and,
Beware of 'ot air and the German gold behind it.
Death makes our vision clearer over 'ere,
And when this bloody war is over I'll come
And side by side we'll stand and see fair play
And clean up old, long-outstanding debts.
But now for Gawd's sake, mates, don't fail me.
Carry on! Carry on!

Even at this date St. Mihiel is little more than a name to most of us. We know that General Pershing won a victory there, and that the operations were carried out almost entirely by Americans. Perhaps we know that 152 square miles were restored in France, and that the forces employed were incredibly few in proportion to the extent of the gains.

We are without the intimate knowledge of the spectator. We have not been given what the movie directors call a "close-up." We cannot see 100,000 maps being distributed to the selected troops, with corrections recorded the day before the attack. We cannot see 30,000 photographs of the terrain being prepared and handed round as part of the final instructions. Or 5000 miles of telephone wire being laid in the salient, and moved forward with their motor truck switchboards and exchanges during the advance. Or the observers locating every enemy trench and notifying their artillery by phone—or the 1,500,000 shells that screamed an answer to the message.

Seventy-two villages and 15,188 prisoners were taken, 111 guns, 42 trench-mortars, 200 machine guns, 30 boxcars, 4 locomotives, 40 wagons and vast supplies of ammunition.

The results were magnificent because the preparations were magnificent. Pershing's plans worked like formulae on a blackboard—like the mechanism of a faultless timepiece. The eternally quoted Napoleon said (among fifty thousand other aphorisms credited to him) "A battle is a series of blunders, and the general wins who makes the fewest"—good enough doctrine for Napoleon's day, but not for the era of the cash register and mechanical calculator. Pershing's lines moved like clockwork because his equipment was nearly perfect; hence the surprisingly low casualty list. The dollars that bought the maps, telephone wires and other supplies saved American lives.

The Fourth Liberty Loan is here, citizens of South San Francisco. The blood of our boys is worth more than your roll and mine.

Capital's Lease of Life

In some New England saloons Liberty bonds of the earlier issues have been sold in $10,000 lots for $7000.

Seafaring men, carrying their bonds in their pockets and wanting the money for a short spree, have sold the certificates at a give-away price. When resold in $10,000 lots the bonds are obviously finding their way into the hands of capitalists.

Again. There are munition manufacturers who find trouble in keeping their help because their factories have not enough parking space for the laborers' automobiles. Which indicates that too many workers are handing their wages to auto builders.

The tendency of wealth to get into the hands of a minority seems inevitable. It would be illuminating to hear the majority classify their reasons for putting it there.

One subject of discussion will be cut off. It will be no use arguing whether beer is an innocent or harmful drink when it is an unattainable one.

Americans always had the reputation of being drivers, and this may be the reason why they are meeting with so much success in France.

Women's skirts in Paris are now worn ten to sixteen inches from the ground. Parisians evidently think it desirable to conserve modesty as well as dress goods for the duration of the war.

After a long retirement from the general view Monastir is gain making its bow to the public.

The Spanish influenza must be pro-German, if one can judge by the way it is holding up the October draft contingent.

The Four-Minute-Man is as useful to his country as was the Minute-Man of old.

It must be very discouraging to ask for an armistice and have the only answer an army.

The war industries board has reduced the production of talking machines 40 per cent. It is to be hoped that we shall not have to increase our own talking by a like percentage. Some of us would find it difficult.

A noted physician instructs his patients to turn six somersaults in the morning and six at night. He probably expects them all to take a turn for the better.

The kaiser must have found long ago that it is much easier to start a war than to stop it.

You undoubtedly have already an excellent collection of Liberty Bonds. We would strongly advise you to add to it as many specimens as possible of the Fourth Liberty loan.

The woman's suffrage bill in the Senate appears to have within one vote of enough to carry it. When the fate of the bill is decided, you may depend upon it that the Senators will either be suffragists or sufferers at the hands of the suffragists.

Ye Idle Chatter

By B. V. D.

(With Apologies to K. C. B.)

Dr. T. C. Doak,

South San Francisco, Cal.

Dear Doctor Tom:—

If you can find time

From your baby cases,

Will you please call

And see Ralph Smith

At the Industrial Club?

I'll tell you

What has happened.

Wednesday morning,

At 3 o'clock,

A scream of anguish

Rent the air,

Or whatever it is

That screams do

In regular stories.

This was followed

By a dismal groan,

Then ominous silence.

Smith shivered himself

Out of bed,

And Ekstrom snuggled

Under the covers

With the feeling

That the murderer,

Or murderess,

Or whatever it was,

Might just as well

Kill him there

As in the hallway.

Smith reached

For the light switch

Just as another moan

Made him want

To start for Mexico.

He followed the sound

To Dr. Frank's room,

And peered in,

Expecting to find

The new club member

Weltering in blood.

Instead of that

He was sound asleep;

He had a nightmare.

Smith was sore,

And slammed the door

And went to bed.

He acted sorry

Some one hadn't killed

Poor Dr. Frank,

Who will not know

Anything about it

Until he reads this.

So I want to ask

If you won't give Smith

Some soothing syrup

To calm his nerves.

He's been all upset

Ever since.

I THANK YOU.

It will not be long before we realize how dry a bone actually is.

Indications of Long Life.
A long lived person, it is said, may be distinguished at sight from a short lived one. The primary conditions of longevity are that the heart, lungs and digestive organs, as well as the brain, shall be large. If these organs are large the trunk will be long and the limbs comparatively short. The person will appear tall while sitting and short while standing. The hand will have a long and somewhat heavy palm, with short fingers. The brain will be deeply placed, as shown by the low position of the orifice of the ear. The blue, brown or hazel eye is a favorable indication. The nostrils, if large, open and free, indicate large lungs. A pinched and half closed nostril indicates small or weak lungs. These are general points of distinction, but are, of course, subject to the usual individual exceptions.—Exchange.

Many of San Mateo county's best business men have endorsed Clark Rice for County Recorder.

Woman's World and Social

No. 1

WOMEN AND THE WAR

By MRS. HENRY P. DAVISON

Treasurer War Work Council
National Board Y. W. C. A.

In an Illinois prairie town lives a widow who launders seventeen baskets of wash a week and every night thanks God for having put pity into the hearts of women.

Mrs. Davison

The mother opened the tin bank in which she had been hoarding her dimes and quarters against this day. The money was scarcely enough. Nevertheless she started. She walked the first eighteen miles. Then her strength gave out, and she took a train.

She did not know that visitors to Camp Funston stay in Junction City, eleven miles away. So she got off the train at Fort Riley. An officer set her right and she reached Junction City after dark. Somehow she found a rooming-house. Some one there stole five dollars from her—five of the precious dollars she had earned over the wash tub and saved by walking. Terror-stricken, she crept out of the house when no one was looking.

Later in the night a soldier found her trembling in the street, and took her to the rooms of the Young Women's Christian Association, rooms which the War Work Council had opened as a clearing-house for troubles. The poor frightened woman was put to bed, but she was too miserable to sleep. The matron got up at daybreak, built a fire, and comforted her. The son's commanding officer was reached by telephone early in the morning, and the boy came to his mother on the first trolley-car he could catch.

The two spent long, low-voiced hours together, perhaps the last hours they will have this side of heaven. Every moment was as precious as a month had been last year. The old lady had still one present worry. The boy's bad cold might turn into pneumonia if she left him. But she had not money enough to stay another night and buy a ticket home. When the matron told her that her bed was free, she broke down and cried and cried.

"I did not know there was so much pity left in the world," she sobbed. She stayed till her boy's cold was better. Then she went back to her seventeen washings and her memories.

Because of the certainty of just such cases as this was Governmental sanction given to the activities of the War Work Council of the Y. W. C. A. From the Pacific to the Atlantic its field extends. Every state in the Union has its members. Urgent appeals for help are its cause and its inspiration. Women of every race and creed are its wards. The task of the War Work Council is tremendous.

When the United States entered the great war the Young Women's Christian Association was, as always, working among women. With the call to new duties its members did not abandon their old responsibilities. The War Work Council was formed as an emergency measure to take care of the women who were caught in some of the mazes of war, just as the parent organization has taken care of them through many years of peace. The varied activities decided upon by the War Work Council follow closely the needs of the different communities of the country. Secretaries trained in the methods of the organization were sent out broadcast. They were instructed to report to the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association in New York the lines of work which could be best followed in the various localities. These secretaries work in close cooperation with ministers, women's clubs, chambers of commerce, churches, military officials, and charitable societies. The record of a day's doings of a secretary reads like a novel, an economic treatise, and a psychological essay all compressed into a line-a-day entry.

A secretary sent out by the War Work Council must be equal to any emergency. Miss Lillian Hull at Chillicothe, close by Camp Sherman, hurrying along the street at nightfall came upon a forlorn couple. A Finnish soldier had found a job for his wife, so that she might come on from Cleveland. When she arrived she was refused the place because she spoke no English. Their money had been all spent on the railroad fare, and the soldier was due back at Camp. The situation was bad.

Thanks to Miss Hull a Chillicothe housewife now has an industrious and grateful domestic, a soldier is happy, and a soldier's wife is safe.

Army folks often benefit even more directly from the secretaries' work. In Bremerton, Washington, a secretary was accosted on the street by a sailor. She was a slender woman, and he had mistaken her for a girl. "May I walk along with you?" he asked.

"Surely," she replied with mature understanding and intuition. "What is the matter? Are you homesick?"

The lad's story came out with a rush. Yes, he was homesick, so hopelessly, despairingly heartsick that he was on the verge of deserting. But this woman gave him genuine sympathy and encouragement. She saved him to his country.

From north, south, east and west these pioneer secretaries sent in their reports. The appalling size of the undertaking was revealed to the War Work Council. Systematization of the work was the first step. Out of the multitudinous phases certain lines of work were revealed.

AUDIENCE PICKS UP COURAGE TO SING

MRS. JOHN L. MCGINN FORMALLY INTRODUCES COMMUNITY SINGING AT ROYAL THEATRE.

Community singing was formally introduced into South San Francisco Wednesday evening at the Royal Theatre by Mrs. John L. McGinn, chairman of the Women's National Council of Defense for San Mateo county.

Following a few remarks explaining the purpose of community singing, Mrs. McGinn presented Miss Rue Clifford, who has been appointed leader of this work in South San Francisco. "The Star-Spangled Banner" was first on the program. "K-k-Katy," "We Don't Want the Bacon," "Just Like Washington Crossed the Delaware, General Pershing Will Cross the Rhine" and "Smiles" followed.

It was a most enthusiastic meeting and leaders in the work regard it as a presage of the support which community singing will be given by every citizen of South San Francisco. The hearty support given the movement at this meeting is a big step toward its ultimate success.

"South San Franciscans have the voices, if they will use them," says Miss Clifford.

KEEPING COOL IN ADEN.

Coolies Pull the Ropes and the Ropes Work the Big Fans.

Electric current for fans is not generally available in Aden, Arabia, and the old fashioned punkah system is the only relief from the almost unbearable heat and closeness of the atmosphere which prevails at certain seasons of the year. A punkah is a large ceiling fan operated by a coolie, who pulls a rope attached to it. This rope generally passes over a small pulley through a hole in the wall, so that the coolie may work unseen by those in the room to be ventilated.

Often a series of fans is operated by one coolie, this system prevailing in hotels, clubs and other places where there is a large space to be cooled. The actual cooling effect is usually considered more satisfactory than that of an electrically operated fan in the respect that the air currents are more gentle and much more evenly distributed.

A punkah walla, as the coolie who operates it is called, receives in Aden an average wage of $3.50 per month for working from eight to nine hours a day. However, during the hot season, when it is desirable to have the punkah in operation night and day, a force of three punkah wallas, working eight hours each, is necessary, and the punkah becomes somewhat expensive. CRUELTY AND LUST WEAPONS OF HUNS

Conquered Peoples Shamefully Treated for Advantage of the German State.

Russian Officers Calmly Tell How Starvation and Abuse Are Made to Serve Their Purpose—Captives Women Made Slaves.

"This I have seen. I could not believe it unless I had seen it through and through. For several weeks I lived with it; I went all about it and back of it; inside and out of it was shown to me—until finally I came to realize that the incredible was true. It is monstrous, it is unthinkable, but it exists. It is the Prussian system.—F. C. Walcott.

No more graphic description of the ravages of the German soldiery upon the civilian population of invaded countries has been given than is contained in the brief and simple statements of F. C. Walcott, now connected with the United States food administration, who was assistant to Mr. Hoover while America was feeding Belgium, Poland and northern France. In one of these statements Mr. Walcott says:

Even now I find it hard to describe in comprehensible terms the mind of official Germany, which dominates and shapes all German thought and action. Yet it is as hard, as clear-cut, as real as any material thing. I saw it in Poland, I saw the same thing in Belgium, I heard of it in Serbia and Roumania. For weeks it was always before me, always the same. Officers talked freely, frankly, directly. All the staff officers have the same view.

Let me try to tell it, as General von Kries told me, in Poland, in the midst of a dying nation. Germany is destined to rule the world, or at least a great part of it. The German people are so much human material for building the German state, other people do not count. All is for the glory and might of the German state. The lives of human beings are to be conserved only if it makes for the state's advancement, their lives are to be sacrificed if it is to the state's advantage. The state is all, the people are nothing.

Conquered people signify little in the German account. Life, liberty, happiness, human sentiment, family ties, grace and generous impulse, these have no place beside the one concern, the greatness of the German state.

Starvation must excite no pity; sympathy must not be allowed, if it hampers the main design of promoting Germany's ends.

"Starvation is here," said General von Kries. "Candidly, we would like to see it relieved; we fear our soldiers may be unfavorably affected by the things that they see. But since it is here, starvation must serve our purpose. So we set it to work for Germany. By starvation we can accomplish in two or three years in East Poland more than we have in West Poland, which is East Prussia, in the last hundred years. With that in view, we propose to turn this force to our advantage.

"This country is meant for Germany," continued the keeper of starving Poland. "It is a rich alluvial country which Germany has needed for some generations. We propose to remove the able-bodied working Poles from this country. It leaves it open for the inflow of German working people as fast as we can spare them. They will occupy it and work it."

Then with a cunning smile, "Can't you see how it works out? By and by we shall give back freedom to Poland. When that happens Poland will appear automatically as a German province."

In Belgium, General von Bissing told me exactly the same thing. "If the relief of Belgium breaks down we can force the industrial population into Germany through starvation and colonize other Belgians in Mesopotamia where we have planned large irrigation works; Germans will then overrun Belgium. Then when the war is over and freedom is given back to Belgium, it will be a German Belgium that is restored. Belgium will be a German province and we have Antwerp—which is what we are after."

That is not all. Removing the men, that the land may be vacant for German occupation, that German stock may replace Belgians, Poles, Serbians, Armenians, and now Roumanians, Germany does more. Women left captive are enslaved. Germany makes all manner of lust its instrumentality.

The other day a friend of mine told me of a man just returned from northern France. "I cannot tell you the details," he said, "man to man, I don't want to repeat what I heard." Some of the things he did tell—shocking mutilation and moral murder. He told of women, by the score, in occupied territory of northern France, prisoned in underground dungeons, tethered for the use of their bodies by officers and men.

If this is not a piece of the Prussian system, it is the logical product of disregard of the rights of others.

Germany has limited the amount that prisoners may spend to $15 a week for officers and $12.50 for privates.

IT ECHOES IN BERLIN

Every steel steamship turned out in our hundred and more shipyards has more than a million rivets, and the rat-tat-tat of the riveters' "guns" swells in chorus with the clicking of the machine guns in France to drown the dying German cheers over their submarine exploits.

The clinking dollars of the Fourth Liberty Loan will add a shriller voice to that chorus and further lower German morale.

It's easy to cheer for our boys in France. Make your dollars shout in the Fourth Liberty Loan. Germany will understand their voice without translation.

ARMY FLIER SHOWERS CROWD WITH LIBERTY BOND CARDS

Fresno, October 11.—During an appeal in behalf of the Liberty Bond issue delivered by Governor William D. Stephens before a great crowd at the county fair, the Governor was interrupted by the appearance of an airplane piloted by Lieutenant Buffington, a daring army aviator from Mather Field, near Sacramento.

Thrilling the crowd to wild applause by his aerial acrobatics, the aviator concluded by dropping like a shower of confetti cards inscribed:

"A plea sent from the sky by Lieutenant Buffington, U. S. army flier, calling on you to help win victory over there by buying Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds."

When Governor Stephens was able to continue, he said:

"Greater than I could convey in any spoken words is the appeal which the very sight of this brave flying boy must make to every loyal American."

"That boy or one like him will some day drop the bomb your Liberty Bond has paid for upon the city of Berlin."

"I pray to God that it will get the Kaiser."

Farming in Australia.

Conditions governing agriculture in Australia are described by Commercial Agent Juan Homs in his report on "Agricultural Implements and Machinery in Australia and New Zealand—Special Agents' Series No. 166." American farm tools and machinery are well liked in Australia, but they are not, in some instances, adapted to the needs of the native farmer. There would be a greater demand for American tractors if they could be used on ground that has not been cleared of stumps. Many other details regarding the farms and their requirements are discussed in the report.

Sinister.

The latest German defense of hospital bombing led Representative Tague to remark:

"That defense is as sinister, and it shows conditions as rotten, as the speech of the rich business man, who chuckled:
